AMBROSINI INVESTS HEAVILY IN GLENDALE

TO the people of Glendale who have long anticipated a great future for this community, the news that a man with financial ability and business foresight has seen a great vision and has consummated a transaction that will mean the revolutionizing of a large section of the city, brings much gratification and satisfaction.

Anthony Ambrosini, a capitalist of St. Paul, Minn., who has already large property interests in Glendale and has had his eye on this city for some time as a place to invest a large sum of money, has purchased the block known as the Watson Block on the corner of Broadway and Glendale avenue, including the Broadway frontage to Howard street, also the vacant property diagonally across the street, on the northeast corner of Glendale avenue and Broadway.

Mr. Ambrosini has long seen the need for a large, modern, first class, fireproof hotel in Glendale. Wealthy tourists remain in Los Angeles or go to Pasadena or nearby resorts when the attractions in Glendale are just as great, but accommodations are lacking.

Mr. Ambrosini expects within a year to begin the erection of a first class hotel on the northeast corner of Broadway and Glendale avenue. He has already approved plans for a six-story structure, 237 feet front on Broadway and 177 feet on Glendale avenue. The first floor will be fitted up for first class store rooms with basement and equipped with fire-extinguishing apparatus. The entire building will be absolutely fireproof, built of re-enforced concrete and steel, lined with pressed brick with ornamental finishing at the windows. The second, third, fourth and fifth stories will be used for hotel purposes and will embody the very latest in hotel construction including fire escapes and elevators. The sixth floor will be used for dining room, reception parlor, dancing hall, kitchen and decorated sunken garden. There will be a wide veranda on two sides of the hotel, Broadway and Glendale avenue, with a roof that will permit of the veranda being used in rainy weather. The veranda will be about 75 feet above the ground and will afford a wonderful view of Glendale, Tropico, Eagle Rock, and the matchless scenery surrounding. Mr. Ambrosini likes the idea of a dining room on the sixth floor on account of the freedom from flies, the purer air, etc. There will be a parlor, reception room and smoking-room on each floor so that if the guests do not care to go to the top floor they can enjoy private social affairs on the floor most convenient for them. A spacious garage will also be built in connection with the hotel for the use of the guests.

Mr. Ambrosini is also considering plans for an opera house in connection with the hotel with modern equipment in every way and in keeping with the hotel. This building can be used for moving pictures, vaudeville, theatricals or any public gatherings or religious services.

On the opposite corner, where are now the Glendale Pharmacy, Shaver's Grocery, the Glendale Market, Miles Shoe Shop, Oliver's Barber Shop, Watson's Nursery office, the Jewel City restaurant and the room formerly occupied by Carney's Shoe Store, Mr. Ambrosini will erect an up-to-date apartment house, 118 feet front on Broadway and 154 feet front on Glendale avenue. The building will be either three or four stories, the first floor being fitted up for stores, with office rooms and apartments above. This building like the hotel will be strictly modern in every way and thoroughly fireproof.

Mr. Ambrosini is a man who can back up his faith in Glendale's future by works. He has spent his winters in Glendale for several years and owns several residences and other property in Glendale and vicinity, and has not made this move without consideration. He is a man who has proved by previous business deals that he has judgment and foresight in the matter of investments. He is the owner of beautiful Forest cemetery in St. Paul, a one hundred and ten acre park equipped with crematory, where he is building the largest community mausoleum in the world. This wonderful structure, including a large chapel and pipe organ and spaces for 1600 bodies, will cost when completed more than $200,000. It will contain 18 carloads of marble and other materials in proportion. This mausoleum was previously described in the Glendale News.

Glendale is fortunate in having attracted a man of Mr. Ambrosini's make-up. He is a man of broad vision and he has already pictured in detail in his mind's eye the transformation that will be effected when his plans are complete. He has unwavering faith in Glendale and believes he has selected the best location in the city for his venture. He considered the proximity of the Salt Lake road, which he thinks will shortly be electrolized, as well as the natural advantages of that section of the city. He thinks there is much more to be done to bring out Glendale's possibilities than he has planned and there is great opportunities for others to make paying investments and at the same time become public benefactors. Mr. Ambrosini's initiative in thus supplying one of our urgent needs will naturally attract other capitalists and we may look forward to great things for Glendale.

WHOLESALE THEFTS

SERIOUS CHARGES ARE BEING BROUGHT AGAINST GLENDALE BOYS

It is indeed with a sense of sadness parents and citizens of Glendale have become aware of the fact that boys of the Intermediate and High School of the City of Glendale have been committing numerous thefts of sundry articles. The condition is a deplorable one and is a warning of parents to make a speedy inventory of the doings of their sons.

Can it be possible that boys who have been reared within the shadow of so many school buildings and in beautiful homes of Glendale with all environments that tend to uplift are of that make up that they will go out in the darkness and stillness of night and commit the thefts that have been committed by these young men. Kind teachers, dutiful parents, law enforcing city department, community daily newspaper, there is something wrong that these conditions are such. Some one has been asleep at the switch, some one has blundered.

This will be the decision of every fairminded citizen if he will visit the annex to the office of the chief of police of the City of Glendale and witness the hundreds of stolen articles, comprising rifles, revolvers, electric batteries, scissors, balls, cartridges, telegraph instrument, expensive electric light bulbs, fishing tackle and many other articles reaching an aggregate of several hundred dollars. This half wagon load of material represents only a small part of what has been stolen as we have been informed there is another lot of stolen articles being held at one of the school buildings.

The time has come for the people of Glendale to ask the city authorities to take prompt and speedy action on a question so serious as this one. The conditions are too serious to be settled by the covering up process. The good of the school, the good of the city and justice to the boys demand that this desire of theft on the part of boys be eradicated from their minds.

LETTERS OF APPRECIATION

The management of the News has been very much gratified to receive many letters from out-of-town delegates who attended the C. E. convention thanking the News for the interest taken in the big meeting and the special effort made to report it in a fitting manner.

Among these letters is the following from A. H. Anderson, the retiring president of the County Union:

Dear Mr. Cowan: I wish to thank you, on behalf of the Los Angeles County Christian Endeavor Union, for the very liberal amount of space given in your paper to the report of the County Convention held at Glendale.

It is unusual for a newspaper to devote so much space to C. E. convention news and we most certainly appreciate the kindly interest you took in allowing us so much space and the amount of extra work necessary for the printing of the red letters in several issues. We will always be glad to speak a good word for the Glendale Evening News when possible.

With my personal thanks and best wishes, I am,

Yours very truly,

A. H. ANDERSON.

LECTURER RETURNS

H. V. ADAMS HOME AFTER BUSY SEASON ON LECTURE PLATFORM

H. V. Adams is at his home, 141 Elrose street, on a three months' vacation, just returning from a six months' lecture tour through Montana, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Michigan, Ohio, New York and New England. He will leave the latter part of June on an eastern Chautauqua tour. Mr. Adams lectures along popular psychological and ethical lines and his time is very much in demand. He closed up a contract this winter for the summer of 1919 and generally has his time sold out two or three years in advance. He has been in lyceum and Chautauqua work for the past eleven years and usually makes the trip from coast to coast every season. In his tour through the country Mr. Adams said he found the people considerably stirred up over the filibustering in which Senator Works of California was implicated. The war excitement is much greater in the east than it is here or in the middle west, that section of the country being so much nearer the seat of activities. But he found that the people through the middle west are beginning to get stirred up too and the sentiment universally, he says, even in the German communities he visited, is to stand by the president.

A conference of American shipbuilders will be held to-morrow to devise means of reducing the time for constructing new destroyers and mobilizing all resources. An effort will be made to have these destroyers completed in from 10 to 15 months instead of 20 to 24 months as heretofore.

GOVERNOR ADVOCATES PREPAREDNESS

POINTS OUT NEED OF STRONG COAST DEFENSE AND COAST HIGHWAYS TO LEGISLATURE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SACRAMENTO, March 23.—Patriotism and preparedness were the keynote of Governor Stevens' first message to a joint session of the state legislature just before noon to-day. He said, "Our beloved republic is in immediate danger of being drawn into the great war. If this cannot be averted California's safety is imperilled." He quoted military reports showing the difficulty of bringing troops here for defense and urged preparation for the support of a coast defense. He pointed out the need of highways the full length of the coast for the quick moving of troops.

TEUTONS TAKE FRENCH WOMEN

GERMAN EVACUATION OF FRANCE CONTINUES—RETREATING TROOPS DESTROY TOWNS THEY LEAVE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, March 23.—The French have crossed the Ailette and are progressing north of Soissons. French forces administered a stinging defeat to the Germans west of St. Simon, Laussane, Switzerland. Germany is sending her captives to the front battle line in reprisal of alleged allied mistreatment of German prisoners.

WITH BRITISH ARMIES, March 23.—The Germans are not only destroying all towns in the territory they are evacuating, but they are taking all women between the ages of fifteen and fifty. It is believed the women are being forced to work in the interior of Germany.

STATE NEWS

COMMISSIONERS ALARMED BY ATTACKS ON CIVIL SERVICE. —LYON BILL

SACRAMENTO, March 23.—The bill framed by the state railroad commission is expected to be passed as a compromise between the jitney and auto stage forces and the transportation corporations. Under this bill the motor bus operators outside of incorporated territory would be put under the jurisdiction of the railroad commission, while those within would be subject to local regulation.

Repeated attacks on the civil service system are alarming the civil service commissioners. Already a bill has been passed in the assembly exempting attaches of the supreme and appellate courts from civil service and today reports by the assembly committee recommending that two other bills carrying attacks on the system be passed, have caused an additional stir. One is the Ryan bill providing that employees on the San Francisco waterfront shall have permanent positions and shall not be snbject to the civil service tests after three months of service. The other is a bill by Lyon also providing for exemptions.

All indications point to the passage of the Benson fruit standardization bill which would extend the provisions of the present standardization law so that citrus fruits would be included.

The Benson-Jones bill calling for an appropriation of $250,000 for a deciduous fruit experiment station is favored by the agricultural committees, but may have a hard time getting through the finance committees.

When the Lyon bill extending the eight-hour law for women toilers reaches the floor of the senate it will carry an amendment exempting fish and vegetable cannery employees. Lyon needs this concession because such canneries find it frequently necessary to work women more than eight hours a day to save great quantities of fish and vegetables from spoiling.

A new method of attacking trusts is being worked out under the direction of Chairman William Kehoe of the senate judiciary committee. The present legal machinery for this purpose is admittedly inadequate. This bill now is being prepared and is along lines suggested by Charles Wesley Reed and Mrs. W. T. Cleverdon of the Berkeley committee on the high cost of living and is patterned after the Clayton act passed by congress.

ST. PATRICK'S PARTY

SHOWER AT HOME OF MRS. PETERSON HONORS MISS NELL ROBB

A charming St. Patrick's party was given at the home of Mrs. H. W. Peterson, 1225 Mountain street, Casa Verdugo, Mrs. Peterson, Mrs. Alfred F. Priest and Miss Bertha Peterson, honoring Miss Nell Robb of Los Angeles, formerly of Glendale, with a handkerchief shower. Miss Robb is soon to become the bride of Mr. Chas. Butts and will make her home after the wedding in Cincinnati. The house decorations were in yellow, the honoree's favorite color, jonquils, poppies and other blossoms being used. The afternoon was spent in games, among which were a vegetable courtship contest and a penny contest. Mrs. J. Robert White won the prize in the penny contest and Miss Robb in the vegetable contest, and Mrs. Tholen was awarded the consolation prize in the latter contest. When awarded her prize the shower of handkerchiefs was also presented to Miss Robb in a large green Irish hat, and there were many beautiful and exquisitely dainty ones among the collection. Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played as the guests made their way to the dining room which was festooned with yellow tulle and smilax and lighted with green candles. The place cards were green hats and flower baskets and the cakes, sandwiches and other dainties provided all carried out the color scheme of green and yellow. Miss Robb has many friends in this, her former home, who will be interested to learn of her coming nuptials and whose good wishes will follow her to her eastern home.

The guests were Misses Nell and Lyda Robb, Mrs. Brady and Miss Erickson of Los Angeles; Mrs. Dan Campbell, Mrs. Geo. Mitchell, Mrs. Arthur Campbell, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, Mrs. Chas. Temple, Mrs. L. C. Brand, Mrs. V. Price Brown, Mrs. Ralph L. Hinckley, Mrs. Emil Tholen, Mrs. T. W. T. Richards, Mrs. F. Hester, Mrs. Menzo Williams, Mrs. R. E. Chase, Mrs. J. Robert White, Mrs. W. E. Evans and Mrs. Doll, Misses Rebecca, Elizabeth and Martha Porter, Eleanor and Catherine Clemons, Dorothy Doll and Ellen D. and Nellie May Williams.

DO PRACTICAL WORK FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

There are evidences in Glendale as well as elsewhere that there is too much talking being done as to how to educate the boys and girls how to become good citizens, and not sufficient practical heart to heart work being done. For adults to talk one to another on "What shall boys do?" will never accomplish anything. The important part is for those adults who have the best interest of the boy at heart, to get in close touch with the boy. Talk to the boys instead of to an adult comrade. The Evening News has often said and will repeat the statement that talk is of little importance. Get with the boy, know what he is doing, and spend your time trying to accomplish good in direct touch with the boy. While you are spending an afternoon at the club talking about the welfare of the child, a few of the boys may be exceedingly busy doing things that are out of harmony with good citizenship. Meet with the boys instead of the intelligent, sedate older people. Assist them in their games, encourage them in their manual labor, show a real interest in them. If a field of corn is to be cultivated the man who is expected to do the cultivating will go where the corn is; he will pull out the weeds and stir up the soil. The man who is to do this work will not call together a few of his colleagues and tell how badly the field needs cultivating, but he will get very busy.

Now, dear friends, why not take a hint and instead of getting out on dress parade to talk about the future welfare of boys and girls, proceed to get in touch with these young people in a way that real practical good will be accomplished?

WITCHING FOR WATER

The idea that a forked twig, or so-called divining rod is useful in locating minerals, finding hidden treasure or detecting criminals is a curious superstition that has been a subject of discussion since the middle of the sixteenth century and still has a strong hold on the popular mind, even in this country. This is evident from the large number of inquiries received each year by the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior, as to the efficacy of such a twig, especially for locating underground water. To furnish a reply to these inquiries the Geological Survey has published a brief paper by Arthur J. Ellis on the history of water witching, with a bibliography that includes a truly astonishing number of books and pamphlets on this uncanny subject.

In summary the paper states: It is doubtful whether so much investigation and discussion have been bestowed on any other subject with such absolute lack of positive results. It is difficult to see how for practical purposes the entire matter could be more thoroughly discredited. It is by no means true that all persons using a forked twig or some other device for locating water or other minerals are intentional deceivers. Some of them are doubtless men of good character and benevolent intentions. However, as anything that can be deeply veiled in mystery affords a good opportunity for swindlers, there can be no reasonable doubt that many of the large group of professional finders of water, oil or other minerals who take pay for their "services" or for the sale of their "instruments" are deliberately defrauding the people and that the total amount of money they obtain is large. To all inquirers the United States Geological Survey therefore gives the advice not to expend any money for the services of any "water witch" or for the use or purchase of any machine or instrument devised for locating underground water or other minerals.

In tracing the history of the subject it is found that divining rods have been used (1) to locate ore deposits, (2) to discover buried or hidden treasure, (3) to find lost landmarks and re-establish property boundaries, (4) to detect criminals, (5) to analyze personal character, (6) to cure diseases, (7) to trace lost or strayed domestic animals, (8) to insure immunity against ill fortune by use as a fetish, (9) to locate well sites, (10) to trace the courses of underground streams, (11) to determine the amount of water available by drilling at a given spot, (12) to determine the depth at which water or ores occur, (13) to determine the direction of cardinal points, (14) to determine the heights of trees, and (15) to analyze ores and water.

The origin of the superstition is lost in antiquity. What is believed to be the first published description of the divining rod is contained in Georgius Agricola's "De re metallica," which was published in 1556. The device became common first in Germany as a means for locating mines and also for discovering buried treasure, a matter of rather common interest in those days when the practice of burying money and plate for safe keeping was very general. It was introduced into England by German miners during the reign of Elizabeth (1558-1603) and before the end of the seventeenth century it had spread throughout the countries of Europe. Everywhere it aroused controversy. The rules prescribed for the cutting of the twig partook largely of heathen sorcery and astrology. There were indeed, to some extent, unconscious reminiscences of the old Scandinavian and even of the Aryan mythology. But this heathen influence was offset when the rod was duly Christianized by baptism, being laid for this purpose in the bed with a newly baptized child, by whose Christian name it was afterward addressed. It is readily conceivable that the motive for surrounding this practice with a religious atmosphere might not have been altogether a belief in its divine character, for at that time anyone found engaged in mysterious works was in danger of being charged with sorcery and burned to death.

The divining rod continued to be a favorite subject with alchemistic writers until about 1660, when a new turn of affairs was brought about by a Jesuit father, who denounced it as an instrument controlled by the devil. The subject was then taken up by the church, and for more than 100 years it was hotly debated by churchmen. Some approved of it and authorized its use on church property; others condemned it and threatened those who used it with ex-communication. In 1692, the year of the Salem witchcraft, its notoriety was greatly increased by the arrest and execution of a criminal through the agency of a peasant who used a divining rod. Interest in this case was intense and widespread and called forth a large amount of literature. As late as 1703 this peasant was employed to point out with his divining rod Protestants for massacre, under the plea of punishment for crimes they had committed. The divining rod was in some respects closely related to witchcraft, as is suggested by the use of incantations in connection with divining, and to this relationship may be ascribed in some measure the strengthening of belief in it. Witchcraft at that time had become a frenzy, and anything which by any stretch of the imagination could be suspected of implication with witchcraft became a subject of discussion and the basis of firm opinions and beliefs. In 1701, however, the Inquisition issued a decree against the further use of the divining rod in criminal prosecution, and the use of the device hapidly came to an end.

In the latter part of the eighteenth century an attempt was made to explain water witching as an electric phenomenon, and later it was discussed as a psychic phenomenon. At almost every step in the advance of science some one has attempted to explain its supposed operation by means of the latest scientific theories.

Before the present war there were several societies in Germany whose sole object was said to be the study of the divining rod. In 1910 the department of agriculture of France appointed a committee to investigate the subject, and in 1914 this committee was still investigating.

A copy of the government report, which is published as Water Supply Paper 416 can be obtained by addressing the Director, United States Geological Survey. Washington, D. C.

ALMOST SHOCKING

"Here!" shouted the railway official, "what do you mean by throwing those trunks about like that?"

The porter gasped in astonishment and several travelers pinched themselves to make sure that it was real.

Then the official spoke again: "Don't you see that you're making big dents in this concrete platform?"

HIS PLAN

An Irishman who was rather too fond of strong drink was asked by the parish priest:

"My son, how do you expect to get into heaven?"

The Irishman replied:

"Shure and that's aisy! When I get to the gates of Heaven I'll open the door and shut the door, and open the door and shut the door, an' keep on doing that till St. Peter gets impatient and says, 'For goodness' sake, Mike, either come in or stay out!'"—Tit-Bits.

USEFUL MINERALS OF THE UNITED STATES

A new edition of the popular work entitled "Useful minerals of the United States," is being published by the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior, as bulletin 624 It is a revised, enlarged and up-to-date edition of a bulletin that was issued about two years ago. A large edition of that bulletin was published, but it soon became exhausted, and several thousand applications for it were received after the edition printed had been distributed.

Bulletin 624 notes the enormous increase in development, production and value of the useful minerals of the country during the last 25 years and many of the changes and discoveries that have taken place in the mineral industry. It aims also to supply the rapidly growing demand for information regarding our mineral resources and the special demand occasioned by the European war.

Besides giving several thousand new localities of mineral deposits and adding more than 160 new mineral names to the glossary, the new bulletin furnishes considerable additional information concerning certain minerals, especially the uranium and vanadium minerals found in the high plateau region of the west. The present bulletin, like the earlier work, gives concisely, by states and counties, the location of the principal deposits of useful minerals and includes a glossary showing the composition and character of each mineral and the location of its principal deposits. It gives also the principal uses of each mineral, which were not stated in the first edition. As a mineral directory it promises to be of service to scientific bureaus and educational institutions that prepare replies to the numerous inquiries of the general public on subjects connected with what may be called commercial mineralogy, as well as to the prospector, miner, manufacturer and business man and the student of economic conditions.

Personals

John Railsbach, 1619 West Seventh, is enjoying a visit from his parents, who live in Kansas City, Mo.

Mrs. Ben H. Strother of Ontario, Mrs. Alfred Kipp and daughter Virginia of Fond Du Lac, Wisconsin, were week-end guests of Miss Charlotte Read of N. Central avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. John White Garver are guests for a fortnight at the home of Mrs. Garver's father, William N. Read, of N. Central avenue prior to their leaving for Denver, Colorado, where they will make their future home.

D. W. Nefsy and family, who lived at 735 S. Central for a year or more, moved Wednesday to Hanford, near which city they have a large ranch. A. T. Cook's family, who came here recently from San Francisco, moved into the vacated house yesterday.

J. T. Morgan has purchased the lot at 112 South Jackson street and is building a seven-room Swiss chalet. This type of building seems to be growing in favor in Glendale as several have been built recently and were readily sold.

The Mothers' Reading Circle met at the home of Mrs. Frank N. Chambers Wednesday when the reading and discussion of "Training the Girl" was continued. The circle will meet at the home of Mrs. Braun, 900 Glendale avenue, next Wednesday.

Rev. E. Ellsworth Smith, who has organized over 100 Congregational churches and Sunday schools, will preach at a week of pre-Easter services at the First Congregational church commencing Sunday, March 25. Special services will be Monday. Brotherhood night, men only; Friday, Young People's night; Wednesday and Thursday nights for everybody.

Rev. McCrea spoke on conditions in China at the Central avenue civic center as the special Thursday evening feature. The rooms are open every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evening, with some special entertainment feature every Thursday evening. The people of the community are invited to come in and make use of the facilities afforded by the center, to read or play games, and the boys can have a boxing bout.

Mrs. Gladys Gibbs Sherman of 1416 West First street and her mother, Mrs. H. R. Gibbs of 427 South Central avenue entertained Chapter E of P. E. O. at the home of Mrs. Russell Hallett on West Seventh street, Los Angeles, Wednesday afternoon. About fifty ladies were present and a charming program was given by Mrs. Sherman, whose delightful soprano voice was heard to advantage in the songs chosen. She gave a talk on Charles Wakefield Cadman and sang a group of his beautiful Indian songs and also a group of Irish songs as the affair was given in honor of St. Patrick's day. Mrs. Sherman's songs and interesting talk were greatly appreciated by the guests. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Gibbs. Dainty and delicious refreshments were served and all the decorations were of Irish green, honoring Ireland's patron saint.

BOY SCOUTS TO GIVE CIRCUS

The troops of Boy Scouts of America in Los Angeles and the nearby cities are planning for a big circus to be held in Los Angeles on the afternoon of April 3. The Glendale troops have been holding rehearsals for the big event and this Friday evening the scouts will meet in the high school gymnasium for a practice drill. Mr. Miller of Los Angeles has been supervising the drills. Troop 1 and 2 will contribute a flag drill and signal tower raising as their part of the program and each troop in the district is to contribute at least two clowns for the circus fun and frolic. The raising of the 30-foot signal tower and taking it down is supposed to be done in twenty-six minutes and the Glendale scouts accomplish the feet in fifteen minutes. Tonight's rehearsal will be the fourth the boys have had. The object of the circus is to secure funds for scout equipment. There are four troops in Glendale and one in Eagle Rock. Further particulars regarding the big event will be given later.

MRS. DANFORD SPEAKS

Mrs. Alma J. Danford gave a very charming talk on library work and its value in co-operation with the school by taking care of the child's leisure time, at the meeting of the Columbus Avenue Parent-Teacher association Thursday afternoon. She made every one feel that they could be at home in the library. Mrs. Dora Gibson's talk was somewhat along the same line. She spoke on music in the public schools and thought it also had an important place in occupying the child's leisure time and expressed the belief that anything that strengthened the home ties made a better citizen of the child. Refreshments were served at the close of the program and the mothers enjoyed a pleasant social hour. Mrs. Taylor, principal of the school, announced that the children had earned $25 by the collection and sale of old newspapers and this money is to be used for playground apparatus.

TRUSTEES' MEETING

TRANSACT USUAL ROUTINE BUSINESS AT THURSDAY NIGHT'S SESSION

The Board of Trustees met in regular session at the City Hall at 8:00 p. m., March 22, 1917. All members present at roll call.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and corrections made as follows:

On page 547, the following was ordered to be inserted (after the words "in full operation and") "the small pumping plant now on the lot to remain." On the same page in reference to the report of the City Attorney the word "introduced" to be substituted for the word "presented." These corrections being made, the minutes were approved.

A communication addressed to the President of the Board from the Railroad Commission of California was read accompanied by certain recommendations for the installation of warning signs on the Pacific Electric Railway line to Burbank at Pacific avenue. On motion of Trustee Woodberry, the recommendation was adopted and the City Manager instructed to advise the Railroad Commission of the action of the city by the following roll call:

Ayes: Grist, Jackson, Muhleman, Thompson, Woodberry.

Noes: None.

The City Clerk presented the assessment roll for the opening and widening of Broadway, also a number of protests that had been filed in connection with the same. On motion of Trustee Muhleman, it was ordered that the hearing of the said protests be continued until eight o'clock p. m. March 29th next.

The weekly report of the Tax Collector was presented, showing taxes collected during the week $506.40, deduction on account of error, $301,04, total tax collected to date, $39,811.52.

The City Clerk reported that the contract for city printing had expired and upon motion it was ordered that the Clerk advertise for bids for the official printing of the city for one year to be opened at 8 o'clock p. m., April 5th next.

Mr. S. C. Packer addressed the Board in reference to the application of Mr. Roman and himself for permission to install a gasoline pump on Colorado street near the corner of Brand boulevard, explaining the conditions and circumstances. Trustee Jackson made a motion which was seconded by Trustee Muhleman that the application be granted, roll call resulting as follows:

Ayes: Muhleman, Jackson, Thompson, Woodberry.

Noes: Grist.

The president declared the motion adopted and the permit was granted.

On motion of Trustee Jackson the Public Welfare Commission and the City Manager were requested to prepare and present to the board a resolution establishing a zone within which gasoline pumps may not be established.

The City Manager requested another week's time in which to make a report upon traffic conditions on Broadway.

The Manager of the Public Service Department presented a deed from the City of Glendale to Alice C. Woodberry for a portion of Lot 84 of Watts subdivision of a part of the Rancho San Rafael (reservoir lot). On motion of Trustee Jackson, seconded by Trustee Muhleman, the President of the Board of Trustees and the City Clerk were instructed to sign and acknowledge the deed to Alice C. Woodberry in conformance with her bid formerly received for the portion of Lot 85, Watts Subdivision of a portion of the San Rafael, as per map recorded in Book 5, Page 328, Miscellaneous Records of Los Angeles County, by unanimous vote.

The Manager of the Public Service Department asked that the Board authorize the purchase by his department of nineteen shares of the Verdugo Canon Water Company's stock from Spencer Robinson for $6.00 per share. On motion the authority was granted by the following vote:

Ayes: Grist, Jackson, Thompson, Muhleman.

Noes: Woodberry.

The City Engineer requested that the sum of $85.00 be transferred temporarily from the General Fund to the Seventh Street opening and widening fund. On motion of Trustee Muhleman the transfer was ordered to be made.

The City Attorney reported having taken up with the City Attorney of Tropico the matter of a proposed contribution by the City of Glendale to assist in the expense of moving the Pacific Electric tower at the crossing of Brand boulevard with the Southern Pacific Railroad company, the matter still being under consideration.

The City Attorney reported that a case against the city in regard to fire apparatus will come up in court on April 11th next, and that it will be necessary to pay the fees of certain witnesses and make other small expenditures in advance, and requested that the board advance the sum of $25.00 to cover such expenses. On motion of Trustee Muhleman it was ordered that the sum of $25.00 be paid to the City Attorney on account of expenses in the case referred to.

On motion it was ordered that Ordinance Number 307, "An Ordinance of the City of Glendale regulating the sale of bread and fixing the standard of weights thereof," be taken up for third and final reading, and upon being read was on motion of Trustee Muhleman, adopted by unanimous vote.

On motion of Trustee Grist, Mr. E. H. Kerker was requested to cancel Policy Number 741701 issued to the City of Glendale by the Prussian National Insurance company and substitute for the same a policy for the same amount and at the same rate in the United States Fire Underwriters of New York.

EASTERN STAR ENTERTAIN AT CARD PARTY

Following the usual business meeting of Glen Eyrie chapter, O. E. S., Thursday evening the members and their friends gathered about the card tables in the lower hall and spent a very pleasant evening at "500." Mrs. C. W. Kimberly was chairman of the committee of hostesses and the other members of the committee were Mrs. Earl Naudain, Mrs. Blanche Peterson, Mrs. C. H. Woolsey and Miss Della Echols. The personnel of the committee is sufficient evidence that every one present had a thoroughly enjoyable time. The gentleman's honors were won by E. L. Parke, first prize, and C. W. Kimberly, second. Mrs. Warren Quincy Roberts won the first ladies' prize and Mrs. W. E. Evans the second. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

INSPIRATION

I heard you laugh
Out on the crowded way
And, lo, a weary woman stopped to smile,
A newsboy sold a dozen papers, while
A straying sunbeam touched your cheek in play.
I heard you laugh.

I heard you laugh.
'Twas in a darkened room,
Where pain had made the hours seem drear and long,
And, lo, the sick room echoed with a song—
A breath of spring that lighted all the gloom;
I heard you laugh.

—Jane McLean.

THE CASE WAS DEVELOPING

"Now, Nora," said the departing physician to the Irish girl, who was nursing a bad case of fever, "if the patient sees snakes again, give him a dose of this medicine. I shall be in again at six."

The hour for his return arrived. The physician once more visited the sick patient, and found him raving. He had been so, said the nurse, for hours.

"And did you give him the medicine?" inquired the puzzled doctor.

Nora shook her head.

"But didn't I tell you to give it to him if he saw snakes again?" demanded the physician.

"But he didn't say he saw snakes this toime, doctor," replied the nurse, confidently. "He said he saw red, white and blue turkeys wid straw hats on."

SECTION 1. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to make or manufacture or to sell, expose or offer for sale or to cause or permit to be made or manufactured or sold, exposed or offered for sale within the City of Glendale any bread unless such bread conforms to the standard of weights as fixed by this ordinance, except as herein otherwise provided.

SECTION 2. The standard weight of all loaves of bread manufactured for sale within the City of Glendale or sold, exposed or offered for sale within the City of Glendale shall be, when baked, respectively, twelve (12) ounces, twenty-four (24) ounces, thirty-six (36) ounces, forty-eight (48) ounces, sixty (60) ounces or seventy-two (72) ounces, avoirdupois weight, provided, however, that the provisions of this ordinance shall not apply to the manufacture or sale of crackers, pretzels, biscuits, buns, scones or rolls or to the manufacture or sale of any loaf of fancy bread weighing less than four (4) ounces, avoirdupois weight, or to any bread which is sold, exposed or offered for sale as "stale bread."

SECTION 3. The standard weight as herein provided shall be determined by the average weight of not less than twenty (20) loaves, weighed upon the premises where such bread is manufactured, within eight hours after such loaves are baked. A tolerance of two (2) ounces, avoirdupois weight, above the standard weight as herein fixed, shall be allowed on any or all twelve (12) ounce loaves, and a tolerance of four (4) ounces, avoirdupois weight, above the standard weight as herein fixed, shall be allowed on any or all twenty-four (24), thirty-six (36), forty-eight (48), sixty (60) or seventy-two (72) ounce loaves.

SECTION 5. It shall be unlawful for any person to prevent or to attempt to prevent said Sealer of Weights and Measures or his deputies from entering any such room or place or to interfere in any manner with the said Sealer of Weights and Measures or his deputies in the performance of his duties as provided by this ordinance.

THE NATIONAL BIRD

We knew it was coming. The high price of eggs furnished the idea. A man in Chicago, who doubtless has been held up for his cold storage product, recently declared for government ownership of hens. Our neighbor, the Tidewater News, goes a step further and urges that the eagle, the bird of war and prey, be displaced as the national fowl by the industrious hen, the bird of peace and prosperity. The News backs up its proposal eloquently by saying: "Uncle Sam would be much too prosperous if he owned the 295,880,000 hens of America , and controlled their output of 1,457,385,772 dozens of eggs—and when you allow for the usual increase since the census of 1910 and multiply that amount by 40 cents, today's market price of eggs, you can easily figure that Uncle Sam would have a surplus in his vault large enough to absorb the national debt, build a navy bigger than England's, buy a dozen more islands, and still have enough left for a few pounds of beefsteak."—Richmond Virginian.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hoflinger spent Saturday in Los Angeles calling on friends.

Mrs. Florence Duffee is in the city this week, having returned to her work of designing and dressmaking. Her services are in great demand.

Mr. A. D. Kirschman, accompanied by his two daughters, visited the exhibit at the Throop college, Pasadena, last Saturday, where his son Darwin is a student. They were much pleased with the work of the students. Such schools as Throop are turning out students who will make the men of the future and know how to do things.

Mr. McNabb spent Sunday with his family at their home on First street. Mrs. McNabb is engaging quite extensively in the poultry business.

Mr. Wm. Haflinger is furnishing up his apartment house, which has been leased by Mrs. Mattie Shaw. Mr. Haflinger is surely an artist in his line of work and is finishing up these rooms with all modern improvements.

Mrs. L. J. Freeman is spending a few days visiting at her old home in Downey.

Mr. W. O. Huse returned to Fresno Sunday, after moving his family to Sunland from Tropico.

Mr. Eustace and Robert Rowley will give a week end house party at their ranch house in the Raines canyon. The party will be chaperoned by their mother, Mrs. L. T. Rowley. The boys are planning all kinds of fun.

Messrs. Haflinger and Stancliff are busy putting in the counters and shelving in the Rowley store building which is to be occupied by Mrs. Geo. Bernhard with her stock of drygoods, notions and ladies' furnishing goods. Mrs. Barnhard is also fitting up a ladies' rest room in connection with her store which will be a great benefit to the traveling public. Mrs. Barnhard is a thorough business woman and we predict success in her undertaking.

Special Easter entertainment for children to be given under the auspices of the Monte Vista School Improvement club for the benefit of the school piano fund. It will consist of a dolls' theater directed by Mrs. Dr. Zacan.

There will be readings by Loreta Shelly and William Lewis; songs by the school. The entertainment will be given March 31st in the Rowley hall, corner of Center and Flower street. Admission: 10c for children; 15c for grown people. Everybody come.

Mr. Page, accompanied by Mrs. Mary Mears and daughter, Mrs. Holberg of Los Angeles, visited Sunday at the Mear ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Shelly of Burbank, accompanied by their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Gatlin of Houston, Texas, visited Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Shelly.

Mr. and Mrs. Shoults of Carpenteria are visiting in Sunlands and looking after their property on Center street. Mrs. Shoults will be remembered as Miss Emma Green.

The popularity of Sunland can be seen by the number of people stopping at the hotels. At the Graham ranch every tent house is full and reservations engaged ahead. At the Monte Vista tavern Mrs. Corey has had to get extra help to care for the people. Nearly every rent house is occupied. It looks as if a boom had struck Sunland.

Mr. Abe George from the highway commissioners' office and his company of surveyors have been correcting some lines on a former survey for the state highway. It looks as if work would soon be begun on the long hoped for highway. We feel that the work done by the chamber of commerce in securing the right of way and their untiring efforts in their work for the future of the valley deserves much praise. Let every loyal citizen stand back of the chamber of commerce and help make Monte Vista valley what it deserves to be, the place of Los Angeles county.

Owing to the large number from Sunland attending the C. E. convention at Glendale last Sunday there was no evening services in the First Baptist church. Rev. Wester will preach as usual next Sunday morning and evening. Everybody invited. Special music led by Walter Maygrove.

"And the audience, my boy, were glued to their seats," said the delighted actor.

"That certainly was a neat way of keeping them there," said the critic. —Exchange.

FRUIT EXCHANGE WILL HAVE LOOKOUT TOWER.

The San Dimas Fruit exchange has contributed to the United States department of agriculture the sum of $1173.39, to be utilized for the construction of a lookout tower at the crest of Charlton peak, which towers 8200 feet above sea level, and will give an unobstructed observation of both San Dimas and Dalton canyons. The money is obtained by assessing each box of oranges shipped by the exchange at the rate of a quarter of a cent.

Two seasons ago the San Antonio exchange in Pomona was instrumental in securing a similar tower high above Camp Baldy, and this has proved an important factor in saving thousands of dollars worth of mountain property by detecting fires before they had a chance to spread over large areas. The department and ranchers are becoming more convinced of the importance of caring for the mountain vegetation as a means of conserving the water supplies. It is understood that the success of the Baldy lookout is but the beginning of a string of such towers all along the Sierra Madre range.
